

CANDIDATES ON THE DEMOCRATIC COUNTY TICKET

ALBERT HUBER.

The democrats of Rock Island county have never gone before the people with a stronger, more representative or better balanced ticket than that which they present this fall. Geographically, collectively and as it pertains to the qualifications of the individual candidates, it could not be improved.

HUBER FOR COUNTY JUDGE.

Albert Huber, candidate for county judge, has been a resident of Rock Island since his second year of age. He has been in the practice of law for 10 years and has been successful from the beginning. His business is of a clean sort, management of estates, investigation of real estate titles, commercial adjustments and trial of civil cases. His success is due to hard work and study, principally after working hours, for he left school at the early age of 11 to work his way in the world. He is a man of studious habits and besides his studies in the law, which he keeps up regularly, he is a lover of good literature, which he reads in four languages. Careful deliberation, diligence in study and calmness of spirit make the judicial temperament and those who know Mr. Huber say he possesses these qualities. He interests himself in public affairs and holds important offices in several associations. If long years of contact with men and women at their daily work and long years of self-instruction and the experience acquired by 10 years of contests at the bar will go to the making of a good judge. Mr. Huber is well qualified for the position to which he has been nominated.

W. D. HALL FOR COUNTY CLERK.

Warren D. Hall of Port Byron, nominee for county clerk, was born Oct. 7, 1863, in Hillsdale county, Mich. He worked on his father's farm until 13 years of age, attending country school. He then moved with his parents to Jonesville, Mich., where he attended high school three years. At the age of 16 he came west to Moline, and after working for one summer for the Keator Lumber company, entered the office of the Moline Dispatch to learn the printer's trade under Samuel Kennedy, who was then proprietor. He has held positions since finishing his trade on the Davenport Democrat, four years; Rock Island Union, and Moline Republican. He is one of the charter members of Twin-City Typographical union, being present at the 25th anniversary held in Rock Island recently. In 1891, he went to Port Byron and was employed on the Globe for some time, but soon acquired an interest, and is now sole owner. He is a member of the order of Knights of Pythias, having been K. of R. & S. of Albrecht lodge of Port Byron continuously, with the exception of one year, since its organization, Sept. 21, 1891. He is also a member of the Court of Honor and the Tri-City Press club. He has always been a democrat, casting his first three votes for president for Grover Cleveland.

In Port Byron he has held the office of village trustee and village clerk four years and is now justice of the peace of the township, which office he is holding for the second term. He has always taken an interest in county affairs and understands the needs of the county, for his long service in the newspaper field has brought him in close touch with the county officials, yet he has never before asked the people to elect him to a county office. No person questions his fitness for the position of county clerk and if he is chosen by the people of the county no one who votes for him will have cause to regret it.

DUDLEY MARSHALL FOR PROBATE JUDGE.

Dudley Marshall, candidate for the new office of probate judge, is a native of the county, being a son of C. B. Marshall, and is a Rock Island product. He was born at Cordova, July

THOMAS E. COLE.

14, 1882, and his early education was in the schools at Cordova. When the family moved to Rock Island he entered the graded schools here, graduating from Lincoln school in 1895, and four years later he completed with honors the high school course, graduating in 1899. For several years he was employed respectively in the freight offices of the Rock Island & Peoria and the Burlington roads and then he began preparation for his chosen profession. He entered the law offices of Searle & Marshall for the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1905. He then put in a year in the Yale law school at New Haven and graduated with a degree in 1906.

He at once entered the law firm of Searle & Marshall and has been a successful practitioner since and is regarded as one of the rising young members of the Rock Island county bar.

THOMAS E. COLE FOR PROBATE CLERK.

Thomas E. Cole of Andalusia, nominee for probate clerk, is one of the best known men in the lower end of the county. He was born in Buffalo Prairie township, Dec. 27, 1863, and located in Andalusia April 7, 1902. There his home has been since, he having been successfully engaged in the lumber and hardware business. He has served his township satisfactorily as justice of the peace and school director and is held in high esteem by all who know him.

EDWARD CORYN FOR TREASURER.

Edward Coryn of Moline, who has been nominated for the office of county treasurer, is a man who has served his city faithfully at various times as a holder of public office. He has also been connected with many important institutions in Moline for years. Mr. Coryn is a native of Belgium, having been born at Lottenhutte, East Flanders, Nov. 2, 1857. In the year 1881 the Coryn family immigrated to the United States and settled in Moline. Mr. Coryn was given excellent educational advantages and acquired both the French and Flemish languages at school and since coming to this country, he has, of course, added the English language to his accomplishments.

During his first few years in Moline he was employed at various occupations. In 1892, with Charles A. Rank, he entered into a copartnership in the retail grocery business, and continued till 1895, when the company disposed of its stock to two faithful employees. At present, Mr. Coryn is second vice president of the Moline Trust & Savings bank, and is a stockholder in the Moline Incandescent Lamp company.

He is a democrat, though independent in local politics. Since his naturalization five years after removing to this country, he has been active in politics. In 1896 he was elected alderman from the Sixth ward and held that office for eight successive years. In this connection he served on important committees and was for two years chairman of the committee on streets and alleys. Shortly after the expiration of his long period of public service as alderman he was appointed by Mayor Skinner as a member of the public library board. Mr. Coryn is a public spirited citizen of the country of his adoption and interests himself deeply in the matter of instructing the new arrivals from the fatherland in their duties and responsibilities as American citizens.

Appropos of this he organized, in 1890, the Belgium Workmen's union, embracing the plan of the sick benefit. Since its organization the union has had a steady growth and is now in splendid financial standing. Mr. Coryn is now and has been from the first, president of the union. For the purpose of educating his countrymen he several years ago organized the Belgium American club, of which he has been the president since its inception. This important association has a substantial membership and maintains a suite of fine club rooms. He is also president of the National Belgian-American Alliance. He is at present president of the Moline Gazette Publishing company. Mr. Coryn enjoys the confidence of all who know him.

CORNELIUS DONOVAN FOR SHERIFF

Cornelius Donovan, candidate for sheriff, is a most fortunate choice. Throughout the county it is generally conceded if there ever was a time in the county's history when a strong man was needed for this important office it is now, when the elements of lawlessness are running riot, and in possession, it may be said, of the instruments of law in Rock Island. "Con" Donovan, as he is popularly known throughout the county, is the man of the hour and the ideal candidate. He was born in Cordova township, July 24, 1858. From his early youth his life has been one of toil. He knows what it is to eat bread in the sweat of the brow. For a few years the family resided in Moline, and in 1874 removed to Rock Island, where at an early age "Con" apprenticed himself to a plastering contractor. For eight years he followed the trade and then he established himself in business on his own account as a plastering contractor. He worked hard until 1884, when, feeling that he was entitled to a rest and a vacation, he decided to learn something of his country by the best educational means possible. During the succeeding few years he saw about all there was to see in the country and, returning to Rock Island, he resumed his contracting business, taking his brother, Charles into partnership with him in 1892. In the meantime he had removed to South Rock Island, where he purchased a modest little home and where he has since resided with his widowed mother.

He has served eight years as member of the board of supervisors from South Rock Island, and has been honored with practically every other office in the gift of the people of his township. He has proven true to every trust reposed in him, sturdy, reliable, honest and faithful. He is the right man for sheriff, and if the people vote as they talk he will have a handsome majority election day.

Democratic Nominees for Congress and Legislature

C. H. TAVENNER.

FOR CONGRESS.

Clyde H. Tavenner, democratic candidate for congress in the Fourteenth district, has fought his own battles from the start, and he has made good at every turn. He had no influential friends to boost him, either, at least not to start with. He made influential friends, however, by always keeping his word and by always making good. No one has ever had to apologize for having boosted him. He has earned all of his own clothes since he was 7 years old.

The man to whom Champ Clark last week telegraphed "I would rather make a speech for you than any other man in America," worked a whole year in a country printing office as a boy at $1 a week. The second year his salary was $2 a week, and the third year $3 a week. It was while setting type at the case that Tavenner learned to write. His articles are now printed from Maine to California and are even translated into German, Swedish and Bohemian.

Tavenner had made up his mind to be a newspaper man when he was 8 years old. When he was 14 he was printing a little paper which he called "The Boys' Bulletin." He went from that on up the line until he became one of the foremost correspondents in Washington. He went to Chicago, where from a start at a small salary he became one of the best all around reporters on the staff of the City Press association, covering the most important assignments, being connected with much of the detective work of the press of the city. Then he went to Washington as correspondent of The Argus. His letters attracted the attention of other papers. Now he has a clientele of 1,200 papers reaching from coast to coast, and his letters are read by millions of people. As all those who have ever read any of "Tav's" articles know, he has always used his time and ability for the people. He could have made more money by writing from the viewpoint of the special interests, but his pen was not for sale. He is known throughout the country as the Washington newspaper man who has told the people the truth. Tavenner was born at Cordova, Rock Island county. His father is J. E. Tavenner, still a resident of Cordova, and a prominent G. A. R. man and Woodman.

Mr. Tavenner is 28 years of age and married.

PETER RINGDAHL FOR SENATOR.

Peter Ringdahl, candidate for state senator from the Thirty-third district, is a resident of Aledo, Mercer county, where he has lived continuously since 1869. Mr. Ringdahl was born in Sweden in 1838. He came to America in 1864, locating in Chicago, where he remained until his removal to Aledo. He is engaged in the merchant tailoring business. He is a property owner in his home city. He never before sought public office. Mr. Ringdahl is a democrat of the old school, casting his first vote for Horace Greeley and having stood by his party colors unswervingly since.

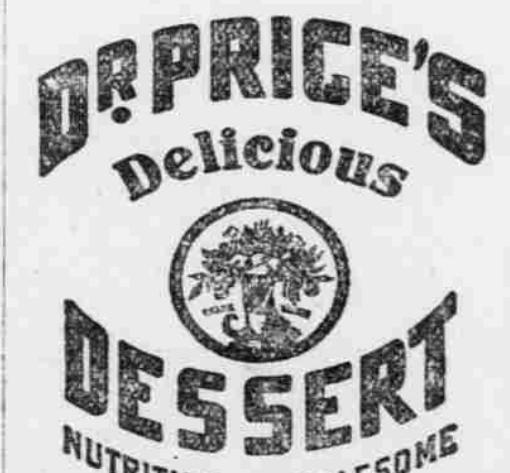

H. L. WHEELAN FOR LEGISLATURE.

born in Rock Island 47 years ago. He has always made this city his home. Educated in the public schools, he afterward took a commercial course and then embarked in the grocery business with his brothers. For a number of years he was so engaged. Later he was a paving contractor, and in more recent years has been in the insurance business, being local and district representative for some of the leading old line companies in the country. He has twice served the Fifth ward in the city council, has been city and county chairman of his party, always giving faithful service, and two years ago was elected to the legislature. The strongest endorsement he could have craved as minority representative, was was the vote of his own ward and precinct in the September primaries.

The best evidence of a man's worth is his standing at home and the people among whom Henry Wheelan has lived all his life indicated how they feel toward him in the highly complimentary vote they gave him for reelection to the office he has filled with credit to himself, his district, and his friends.

GREATEST HERO TITLE GIVEN LEE

So Voted by Judges in Debate of Society at Augustana College.

BELONGS IN HALL OF FAME

Held That Protest Against Recognition Is Not Becoming of People of the North.

That Robert E. Lee not only is entitled to a place in the hall of fame, but is the greatest hero of history, was the verdict of the judges in an interesting "hero contest" last evening at a meeting of the Adelphe society of Augustana college. The unique program attracted a large attendance and great interest was manifested in the outcome of the contest.

Five-minute speeches were given by seven speakers on their favorite characters of history, and Professors I. M. Anderson, Jules Mauritzson and L. W. Kling served as judges on merit of presentation. In addition to General Lee, other characters presented for consideration as the "greatest of the great" were Abraham Lincoln, the apostle St. Paul, William Shakespeare, Gustavus Adolphus, Charles XII of Sweden and Joan of Arc. The apostle St. Paul was given second place by the arbiters.

Loyalty and Genius Shown.

Robert E. Lee's nobility of character, his loyalty to Virginia and the cause which he believed was the right one, his marvelous military genius and untiring energy and fortitude in the face of overwhelming odds were the chief points delineated by the speaker who chose "the leader of the lost cause" as the greatest of heroes. He said in part: "Lee was a warrior, the hero, not of one emergency, not of one crisis, but of a thousand. But he was infinitely more than this. He did not sink the man in the military man. He had all the soldier's virtues, he was a 'chevalier without fear and without reproach,' but he was glorified by a whole galaxy of excellences which soldiers seldom have.

Idol of the South.

"Lee is and always will remain the idol of the south. Yet, with the passing of years, none are prouder of his record than those who fought against him. And his praise will increase. When we candidly consider how the south and its leaders have not been heralded by trumpets, but have been misrepresented by historians, by books like 'Uncle Tom's Cabin,' and by the altogether wrong teaching we have received in the public schools, when we consider that through all this Lee's fame has remained untarnished and is becoming more and more recognized, we must admit that here we have a true hero.

Narrow-Mindedness Charged. "He was true to his native Virginia, his beloved Virginia, and now she wishes to recognize his loyalty to show that she is grateful to him for his unselfish service and devotion by naming him as one of her two most loyal and illustrious sons. To the shame of certain narrow-minded people of the north, opposition is being made to allowing his statue in the hall of fame; but the sooner the Grand Army of the Republic removes this blot on its record, the surer will be its fame in the eyes of an impartial future."

To Attend Board Meeting.

Dr. L. G. Abrahamson and Dr. C. W. Foss of Augustana college will report for Philadelphia next week to attend the bi-monthly meeting of the board of foreign missions of the general council Thursday. Dr. Foss will leave Tuesday evening and return Saturday morning. Dr. Abrahamson, who is also a member of the sub-committee on nominations, which meets Wednesday, will depart on day and will stop en route at Joliet to deliver a reformulation address in the evening at the Swedish Lutheran church. He expects to return to Rock Island Sunday morning. In addition to routine business, the question of sending Rev. Ira O. Nothstein as a missionary to India will be discussed and difficulties which have arisen will be adjusted if possible. Rev. Nothstein was recently called by the board to go to India as a missionary, but he is not certain whether or not he will accept. Retine business and reports from the field will occupy the attention of the board during the remainder of the session.
